Why we exist

We protect people from the devastation of uninsured and hit-and-run driving.

MIB is a not-for-profit organisation founded in 1946 on the belief that no one whose life had been changed by an uninsured driver should be left without the support they deserve.

Today that has grown into a community of people and organisations tirelessly working to protect people from the devastation of uninsured and hit-and-run driving. We do it by compensating victims quickly, fairly and compassionately, and getting uninsured and hit-and-run drivers off our roads until it becomes a thing of the past.

Our work and impact stretch further too, through the services we manage for the insurance industry and the government.

The Insurance Fraud Bureau brings together insurers, partners and law enforcement agencies in the fight against fraud.

On behalf of the UK government, Official Injury Claim makes it quick and easy to claim compensation after a road accident.

ELTO helps anyone affected by a work-related illness or injury quickly find their employer's insurer information.

If this sounds like the type of organisation for you, read on.

If not, let's leave it here. No hard feelings.

Our principles

At a time when the needs of our members and partners are always changing, it's often how we get there that makes our biggest achievements possible.

The shared ways of thinking and behaving we call the MIB Principles guide and inform everything we do.

Customer first

We put our customers at the heart of everything we do, always looking to understand their needs and build trusted relationships to make a positive difference. We're transparent, we work with integrity and strive to get it right first time, every time.

Think BIG

We empower our people to innovate, evolve and continually improve. We challenge each other to think beyond today, to think outside the norm and find new ways to improve. With our different skills, personalities and experiences, we make change possible.

Inspire

You don't have to be a leader to inspire the people around you. The work we do and how we do it should inspire those around us. By aiming high and being our best selves, we encourage and support each other with trust, openness and our shared desire to make a difference.

People and planet

We're all about making a positive impact on people and the planet. And when you join us, you'll have plenty of chances to help do good in the world.

We're committed to six of the United Nations Global Goals for Sustainable Development. And, we're proud members of the United Nations Global Compact Network (UK).

People and the community

At MIB, Belonging, Inclusion, Diversity and Equity (BIDE) are top priorities. We're committed to closing the gender pay gap and report openly, including through the Women in Finance Charter. Our employee networks embody our BIDE principles, fostering inclusivity for everyone. Through Goodness, our engagement programme, we support causes like UnityMK, volunteer work, and environmental efforts.

Climate action and the environment

Our team plays a crucial role in driving sustainability at work and in the community. In 2022, we improved our Milton Keynes head office, cutting greenhouse gas emissions by 70%. By investing in certified carbon removal projects in 2023, our head office became carbon neutral. In 2024, we'll keep reducing emissions across our estate and supporting our team to make positive changes at work and home.

Early intervention through education

We're committed to ending uninsured driving by focusing on early education. Teaming up with the PSHE Association, we've co-created resources for teachers to improve awareness among future drivers. Partnering with The Safety Centre, Hazzard Alley, we aim to reach 1,000 young people in 2024. Together, we can enhance road-safety knowledge and awareness among young people, making roads safer for everyone.

Going further and faster

Our founding principle remains at the heart of our mission. And yet, to achieve our ultimate goal of ending uninsured driving, we must find ways to go further and faster.

Our plan for 2024 is built around three priorities:

Protect

We'll do more than ever to keep uninsured vehicles off our roads – improving our data and intelligence, expanding our enforcement team and looking at how new technologies could play an even bigger role. We'll also continue to evolve the way we share information. Alongside Navigate, the single, modern and scalable platform we need for the future, we'll work with members to understand how we can improve the quality of information available through our data services.

Influence

Alongside the police and the government, we'll influence the behaviours we know lead to uninsured driving. We'll further evolve how we work with our members on shared challenges and strengthen international relationships to make sure victims of cross-border accidents get the support they need. And we'll work together to support an informed conversation about the potential risks around autonomous and connected vehicles.

Future-fit

We'll be much clearer about how our work supports victims and keeps uninsured drivers off the roads. We'll make our employer offering more open, transparent and relevant, and go further than ever to make a positive difference to communities and the environment. And we'll explore how artificial intelligence could benefit our future work.
